Ambassadors of the peoples of the world, the 6 members of Hilight Tribe are surfing the organic trance wave. The band members met in the 90's in the Paris region when they were only teenagers. From the forest at the foot of their residence, Greg and Ludo will federate their best friends and dream the world through music and nature. The meeting with their producers will initiate a great adventure around Natural Trance, a new genre that combines the instruments of the world with an electro sound played live. Two decades after their first albums Maha Wave and Stellar Rain, both recorded on top of a mountain in the Balearic Islands, the Tribe continues to share its magic on record or live with the support of an ever-growing audience full of lights in their eyes.
